Preparedness Update

Helping to prepare the Texas emergency management community

January 2019

The Preparedness Update alerts the Texas emergency management community to planning, training and exercise opportunities while providing updates on Texas Division of Emergency Management (TDEM) preparedness initiatives and activities. For more information, or to receive the Preparedness Update, contact william.wahlgren@dps.texas.gov.

Preparing for This Year's Special Events

With every new year comes a new calendar full of special events. Food and music festivals, parades and rodeos are all community events that require a great deal of advance planning to help ensure that everyone remains safe and has a good time. When a large number of people occupy a space, emergency managers should anticipate any likely scenario. Not surprisingly, unexpected man-made and natural incidents, medical emergencies and more could result in tragedy if planners are not well prepared. The degree of a disaster's severity depends in part on the skills and knowledge of those in charge and the planned response. For any event, personnel should have clear roles and responsibilities and know exactly what to do in case of an emergency. Promoters, vendors, sponsors, first responders, volunteers, staff and any individual or organization that contributes to the planning of the event should form a collaborative planning team well in advance of the event. Team meetings are used to identify likely threats and risks, health, safety and security issues, emergency access and evacuation routes, shelter areas, possible weather impacts, and communications issues. If the event requires road closures, possible protests, or significant jurisdictional resources, planners should involve local police, fire, and transportation personnel. An emergency operations plan should be readily available and include clear procedures that include whom to notify, who does what, equipment and resources locations, as well as up-to-date contact information of key personnel. As the event nears, details may change and therefore the plan should be updated to reflect these changes, if necessary. After the event, consider developing an after-action report. This way, everyone involved can report on what worked and what needed improvement so that next year's event is even better. For more information, or to comment, contact Chuck Phinney.

Careful planning for special events helps keep the whole community safe.

Exercise Program Spotlight

TDEM's state exercises will be regionalized beginning fiscal year 2019 to ensure that our Texas communities are prepared for all kinds of disasters and to help our new generation of emergency managers and first responders prepare for them. The regional exercises will be simple in nature, featuring back-to-basics topics such as "roles and responsibilities" and "who is in charge." The state will still conduct an annual hurricane evacuation exercise in accordance with Texas Executive Order RP57, but all other exercises will be hazard-focused based on regional needs.

State agencies, District Disaster Committees, the State Operations Center and FEMA Region VI will participate in the regional exercises whenever possible. Additionally, these exercises will accommodate local and state jurisdictional grant requirements and will involve more communities throughout Texas. Regional exercises will be developed and conducted in conjunction with local, state, tribal and federal jurisdictions and partner agencies, as well as representatives of the whole community. For more information, contact Sabine Gumm.

Local and Regional Plans Spotlight

Coming in 2019, LRPV has re-worked the T-420 - Shelter Operations Course for local jurisdictions to use their own staff to effectively open and run a shelter in order to provide disaster services in a safe environment for its residents and staff. For more information, contact Mario Chapa.

Local and Regional Plans Review

In November, the unit reviewed 48 plan documents.

Hazards Unit Spotlight

The Hazards Unit has much planned for 2019 and implementing outreach programs to all the regions in Texas is a top goal. The unit will work with local and regional fire departments to ensure that their training needs are fulfilled and that they are aware of all grants and courses that are available to them.

Hazards will hire a new staff member who will focus on working with communities to keep their Local Emergency Planning Committees (LEPCs) active and current. Work will continue on Agreement in Principal (AIP) training and continued improvements to the U.S. Department of Energy's Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (WIPP). For more information, contact Dan Borgeson.

State of Texas Emergency Management Plan and Annex Updates

The State of Texas Emergency Management Plan (State Plan), which includes the Basic Plan, all emergency support function (ESF) annexes and hazard annexes, has been posted to the Preparing Texas website. Below is a list of each document within the State Plan and its current status. As plans are updated, the State and Federal Plans Unit will replace the old version. For more information, contact Josh Bryant.

Preparedness Quiz

Determine whether each statement is True or False regarding developing an emergency operations plan (EOP).

1. An EOP should be flexible enough to use during any emergency.
2. Planners should have unique plans to address every type of threat or hazard.
3. Emergency planning always needs to start from scratch.
4. Planning should include participation from all stakeholders in the community.

New Course: Surviving an Active Shooter: Run. Hide. Fight.

Training, in cooperation with NCBRT – LSU, is introducing a pilot course, Surviving an Active Shooter: Run. Hide. Fight. (PER-375). The course aims to train non-traditional first responders, including civilian employees, students, faculty, staff, patrons and any other person who lives, works or visits any location where an active shooter incident may occur. The course includes lecture, group discussion and practical application of course material and seeks to prepare the target audience for an active shooter incident by providing them with plausible and effective response options. For more information, contact Paul Hahn.

Training for two different audiences will be available in January:

Surviving an Active Shooter: Run. Hide. Fight	Charles Doyle Convention Center Texas City, TX	1/22/2019
Primarily for School/Campus Staffs		24 Seats Available
Surviving an Active Shooter: Run. Hide. Fight	Charles Doyle Convention Center Texas City, TX	1/23/2019
